

WHO IS THE COLORADO RIVER RESEARCH GROUP?

The Colorado River Research Group (CRRG) is a self-directed team of ten veteran Colorado River scholars. Each member has led a research program concerning water resources management, river science, or water law and public policy, or has written widely on these topics. The purpose of the CRRG is to provide a non-partisan, basin-wide perspective on matters pertaining to the Colorado River, helping all those with a stake in the river identify, justify and implement actions that sustainably meet society's demands for water while maintaining the distinct attributes of the Colorado River ecosystem. For more info, please visit www.coloradoriverresearchgroup.org.
